

2023-24 Directory Information Notice & Opt Out Form for the National Student Clearinghouse

According to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), a federal law, the New York City Department of Education (NYC DOE), acting on behalf of John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School, cannot give out any information that identifies a student without consent. Certain information, however, is called “directory information” and may be shared in some cases. The NYC DOE, acting on behalf of John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School, shares “directory information” with the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC). The directory information to be shared consists of the names and birth dates of students who started 9th grade in 2023-24, in addition to all students who attended New York City (NYC) charter high schools from 2002-2023.

The NSC has data on where students go to college and what types of degrees they receive from more than 3,600 colleges and universities. The NSC uses directory information from the NYC DOE to identify former NYC charter students and to give information to John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School through the NYC DOE about where these students went to college, when they went to college, their graduation dates, and what types of degrees they received. This information is used to help understand and improve students’ college readiness and success.

How to Opt Out of Sharing Directory Information with the National Student Clearinghouse

The NYC DOE, acting on behalf of John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School, will give your student’s directory information to the NSC, including name, grade level, and birth date, unless you tell John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School not to. To tell John W. Lavelle Preparatory Charter School not to give your student’s directory information to the NSC:
